Dear Sisters and Brothers in the Lord:

During this Season of Easter, Holy Mother Church arranges for us to hear at Mass readings from the Acts of the Apostles, a book of the Bible which might be a bit unclear to us; for it follows directly after the Four Gospels and comes directly before the many Epistles of Paul, yet it is neither a Gospel nor a letter. So...what is the Acts of the Apostles? And how are we to understand it?

Thankfully, we don't have to wonder for too long: St. Luke, who is long held by Tradition to be the author of Acts of the Apostles, himself gives us the way to understand Acts of the Apostles in the first two verses: "In the first book, Theophilus, I have dealt with all that Jesus began to do and teach, until the day when he was taken up..." (1:1-2, RSV). The 'first book' referenced here in verse 1 would be the Gospel according to St. Luke.

What is very interesting in this opening line, however, is that St. Luke writes "all that Jesus began to do and teach"; this is a most interesting word choice! For the main characters of the Acts of the Apostles appear to be the apostles themselves, especially Peter and Paul; Jesus seems to be almost entirely absent from the book other than when He ascends and when He appears to Paul in a vision! But herein lies the all-important key to understanding Acts of the Apostles: St. Luke is here telling us that Jesus Christ is, in fact, the main actor and protagonist in the Acts of the Apostles, and that, having ascended into Heaven and having sent the Holy Spirit upon His apostles at Pentecost, Jesus now acts by means of the apostles themselves! Indeed, this also explains why, when Jesus appears to Paul (then called 'Saul') in a vision, he says, "Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me?" (Acts 9:4).

The Acts of the Apostles, then, is the story of how Jesus, through the work of the apostles and the Holy Spirit, continues to act in the world, even after His ascension. This fact is made clear multiple times through the course of the book; for the Acts of the Apostles recounts how the apostles, in their own lives and in various ways, themselves undergo the life and death of Jesus Christ: the apostles perform great miracles of healing, are unjustly arrested by the chief priests, are unjustly imprisoned and beaten, and many of them even undergo a death similar to that of Jesus (St. Stephen is a notable example of this). They are His witnesses—His "martyrs". This theme of "witness" is very important to the Acts of the Apostles.

There is so much more depth to this book of the Bible! But it can wait until another time. For now, let us all focus on becoming, like the apostles, witnesses to the actions of Jesus Christ which we have seen in our own lives, beginning with His resurrection from the dead!

Yours in Christ Jesus,
Seminarman Michael Block

DESDE EL PASTOR

Queridas Hermanas y Hermanos en el Señor:

Durante esta Estación de la Pascua, la Santa Iglesia nos da durante la Santa Misa las lecturas del libro de los Hechos de los Apóstoles. Pero, tal vez no entendamos mucho de este libro de la Biblia: aunque siga los Cuatro Evangelios, no es un evangelio, y aunque preceda las cartas de San Pablo, no es una carta. Entonces...¿Que es el libro de los Hechos de los Apóstoles? ¿Y cómo debemos entenderlo?

Gracias a Dios, no tenemos que preguntar por mucho tiempo: San Lucas, quien la Tradición de la Iglesia nos dice es el autor de los Hechos de los Apóstoles, nos da la manera para entender los Hechos de los Apóstoles in los primeros versos: “Teófilo, yo escribí en mi primer libro todo lo que Jesús hizo y enseñó desde el principio hasta el día en que fue llevado al cielo...” (Hechos, 1,1-2). Este ‘primer libro’ tiene que ser el Evangelio según San Lucas.

Que es muy interesante a nosotros en esta primera línea es donde San Lucas escribe “todo lo que Jesús hizo y enseñó desde el principio”; una mejora traducción del griego original de los Hechos de los Apóstoles sería “lo que Jesús empezó a hacer y enseñar desde el principio”. Este es muy importante; porque la palabra que eligió San Lucas (“empezó a...””) debe sorprendernos: en los Hechos, parece que los apóstoles son los personajes más importantes, los protagonistas de la historia, especialmente San Pedro y San Pablo. Parece que Jesús casi no es en los Hechos fuera de su ascensión y cuando viene a San Pablo en una visión. Pero en esta palabra de los Hechos de los Apóstoles, San Lucas nos demuestra la llave para entender los Hechos: porque usa la expresión “empezó a hacer y enseñar”, San Lucas está diciendo que, en los Hechos, ¡realmente el actor y el protagonista es Jesucristo mismo, siguiendo sus acciones y enseñanzas! Pero ahora, Cristo, ascendido en cielo, y después del viene del Espíritu Santo sobre los apóstoles, hace sus acciones por medio de los apóstoles. Además, esta razón explica porque Jesús, cuando apareció a San Pablo (en aquel tiempo llamado ‘Saulo’) en una visión, dijo, “Saulo, Saulo, ¿porque me persigues?” (Hechos 9,4).

Los Hechos de los Apóstoles, entonces, es la historia de Jesús, quien, por las acciones de los apóstoles y el Espíritu Santo, continua vivir y trabajar en el mundo, aunque este después de su ascensión. Además, los Hechos cuentan como la vida de Jesús se realiza de nueva en las vidas de sus apóstoles, quienes hacen gran milagros, están injustamente encarcelados, y, frecuentemente, están matados en una manera similar a Jesús (por ejemplo, San Esteban). Si, los apóstoles son los testigos de Jesucristo—sus ‘mártires’—, un tema que es muy importante en los Hechos.

¡Hay tanta teología y profundidad en este libro de la Biblia; más que puedo describir ahora! Ahora, ¡nos enfocamos ser testigos, como los apóstoles, a las acciones de Jesucristo que hemos visto en nuestras vidas, empezando con su resurrección de la muerte!

Tuyo en Cristo,
Seminarista Michael Block
